STRIKE

Finally Extends Into One of the Mills of the Carnegie Plant.

Strikers Claim a Shut Down

Will Result from This Action of Ten Skilled Workmen But Trust Managers Say That New Men are on Hand. Dismantling of Mills.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.--Ten men in the lower Carnegie union plate mills struck to-day. All were skilled workmen. It is claimed by the Amalgamated people that this will shut down the mill, but the steel trust says new men are on hand to take the strikers places.

To Dismantle More Plants.

Canal Dover, Aug. 13.--The officials of the Steel Trust Plant here have notified the men if they did not return to work by Thursday next they have orders from New York to dismantle the mill. The same story comes from the trust mills at Warren.

BOY HELPERS STRUCK

And Compelled the Closing of the National Tube Works.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.—There is no change in the Amalgamated strike situation today except the closing of the National Tube Works at McKeesport, due to the strike of the boy helpers without whom the works cannot be carried on. President Shaffer says he is pleased at the outlook.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—M. F. Tighe, assistant secretary of the Amalgamated Association is expected to arrive in South Chicago this afternoon and will at once confer with local lodge leaders with a view to having the strike vote here reconsidered. Assisted in the Starting of the Crescent Mill This Morning.

Cleveland, Aug. 13.—With its Pittsburg importations and the help of the managers and foremen of its other five mills the Crescent Tin Plate branch of the steel trust started one mill this morning with a force of 24 men. There was no trouble.

A STRONG PRESSURE

Is Being Brought to Bear on the Men to Strike.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 13.—At Riverside Tube Works, all the men are idle today, except in the steel department, where men refuse to go out until September 7, when the 30 days notice to the company expires. A strong pressure is being brought to bear upon them to come out. All the other trust plants are closed tight.

TOTAL NUMBER

Of Men In the Strikers' Ranks Now Aggregates Sixty Thousand.

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.—The struggle for mastery between manufacturers and men in the steel industry is fairly launched. The general strike order issued by President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association has so far been obeyed by about 14,000 men, according to the best figures obtainable here. The first two preliminary calls were answered by about 45,000 men, so that the total number now out is in the neighborhood of 60,000.

The strikers made gains here Monday and their prospects for further accessions at both McKeesport and Wheeling during the week are very favorable. The action of the Amalgamated men at Chicago, Joliet and Bayview in refusing to come out, and their failure to secure any recruits in the Carnegie group throughout the Kiskiminetas valley and the plants at Youngstown and Columbus, were disappointing to them. They are keeping up the fight in a spirited manner and claim they have strength in reserve which will surprise their opponents. They assert that they have gained a foothold in the Carnegie mills in his city, and that at the time desired the men will come out. They are pressing their advantages at McKeesport and Wheeling and their organizers are still at work in those two cities.

President Shaffer has decided to personally visit Wheeling and will go there Wednesday to address a mass meeting of his followers. He remained here today directing the fight and conferring with his assistants as to plans for the future. An appeal for financial aid has been made to organized labor and the general public, and it is expected that the responses to it will be liberal. Mr. Shaffer made a statement that is regarded as highly significant. It was to the effect that no effort would be made to call out members of the American Federation of Labor, and that any action of that organization must be voluntary.

Appeal to Local Lodges.

The Amalgamated Association also issued an appeal to its local lodges, urging the members who are employed to give liberally to the cause. It is suggested that much financial assistance could be obtained in the large cities by popular subscription through the medium of the local newspapers, and it is recommended that the plan be put in operation, as it will enable the people to demonstrate their sympathy.

The men who are directing the fight in the field for the steel corporation and its constituent companies would give no indication of their plans for the future and would only discuss the situation generally. Their reports showed that the Carnegie group, South Chicago, Bayview, Joliet, Youngstown, Columbus, the Kiskiminetas valley group, Wellsville and Monessen were moving along full-handed. Bellaire, their advices showed, was badly crippled, but had held on until 3 o'clock in the afternoon and would be started up again. They admitted the loss of the National rolling mill at McKeesport, which they had expected to hold, and that the Boston mill and Monongahela steel works at McKeesport and and the Republic and Elba were tied up. Their tube workers at McKeesport and here were still at work, but menaced by a possible shortage of material. Their tube men at Wheeling were out but the furnace and coke men there were at work, and their steel men there showed an inclination to stay on unless intimidated. They also claimed that many of their men at McKeesport desired to work but were terrorized. They also charged that many of their men were being frightened from their places at Wheeling and insisted that adequate protection for the men there would insure continued operations. It was also stated by the steel officials that the Clark mill here was moving along mill here was moving along with its nonunion crews engaged last week and that another mill manned by old Amalgamated men had started up at Wellsville, representing a gain of one there since Saturday.

McKeesport's Inflexible Mayor.

Officials of the National Tube company and Mayor Black clashed over the question of protection for nonstrikers and property at McKeesport. A large crowd of strikers assembled around the works and their pickets intercepted tube workers on their way to the mills. There was some excitement and the mill officers, claiming that their men were being threatened and in danger of violence, called on Mayor Black to clear the streets and protect them. The mayor said that he would interfere to stop only actual rioting and assault. Two other appeals were made to him but he insisted that there was no danger of an outbreak. Strikers say it is only a question of time when material will give out and the tube men must quit. Otherwise it is believed there would be serious trouble in McKeesport.

Reports from Wheeling and Bellaire indicate that there may be trouble there. At the latter place an attempt is to be made to keep the plant in operation, and the mill officials say that if they or the men who did not go out are interfered with they will ask for state militia to protect them.

At Wheeling reports that men were being imported have brought out crowds bent on preventing their admission, and it is predicted there will be serious clashes there before the strike is settled. Most of the strike centers and Pittsburg in particular are very orderly, however.

The strikers at Canal Dover, O., have had men watching the mills on the strength of a report that nonunion workers are to be brought there. Superintendent Harris of the tin mill notified the men that unless the plant is reopened within a reasonable time he has orders to commence dismantling it. Manager Warner of the sheet mill made the same announcement to the men who went out of his service.

The executive committee of the Amalgamated Association will probably make an exhaustive investigation of the action taken by the lodges at South Chicago, Bayview and Joliet in refusing to join the strike. President Shaffer has been urged to go west and personally investigate the matter, but it is not likely he will be able to spare the time for the present. A radical element in the local lodges bitterly denounce the western members and insist that there was something irregular about the matter. It is claimed that a canvass made a week ago showed a majority in favor of striking, and that no reasonable explanation of the change of front has been made. President Shaffer refrains from any direct criticism of the act of the western men. He says he will await official reports before acting, and that he can do nothing until he returns from Wheeling.

The department previously sent a letter of commendation to Captain Meyser, who was the senior officer in command, but who gave way to Captain Hall on being wounded. A similar letter would have been sent to Captain Hall, but at that time he was under charges made by officials of the American legation relative to his course during the siege. A court of inquiry fully exonerated Captain Hall.

A special committee will be appointed to present the matter to Attorney General Knox with a plea that he institute proceedings against the trust under the Sherman act. If these efforts fail, recourse will be had to mandamus or other proceedings to attain the object sought.

GOOD

Advice is Given by Gen. Gomez

To the Cubans.

Says He is Not a Candidate for Office

But Favors Senor Maso as the Choice for the Vice Presidency.

Movement Started by Revolutionary Generals to Make Senor Palma the Unanimous Choice for President.

Havana, Aug. 13.—General Maximo Gomez has addressed a letter to the local committee of the National party in Havana, who had chosen him as a candidate for the vice presidency. The communication runs in part as follows: "On hearing what the committee has done, I hasten to say that I must refuse to undertake such high office under the republic. So far as candidates are concerned: I look upon Senor Estrada Palma and Senor Maso as the best selections that could be made for the presidency and for the vice presidency. Let all Cubans agree upon this important matter and Cuba will have a strong and stable government, entirely fitted to deal with the exernal relations in which Cuba will have to exist as a republic."

A movement backed by a number of the revolutionary generals was started some time ago to endeavor to make Senor Palma the unanimous choice of the people for the presidency. Simultaneously overtures were made to Senor Maso with a view of persuading him to accept the vice presidency. It is asserted, however, that thus far Senor Maso has declined to fall in with this plan, as he relies upon the negro vote to elect him president.

SOUSA GOING TO ENGLAND.

The American Band Will Play In London and In Glasgow.

John Philip Sousa and his band are going to make another journey abroad this summer, says the New York Sun. Last year the organization made a tour of the continental countries that continued for five months, but did not visit England. Now the intention of Mr. Sousa, who made his final arrangements the other day, is to remain in England during all of his stay abroad.

"The band will sail," Mr. Sousa said, "on Sept. 25 and will give its first concert at the Royal Albert hall on Oct 30. We will then go to the exposition at Glasgow and play for four weeks. The best Scotch and English bands have been engaged to play there, but we will be the only foreign band to be heard."

OLD HORSESHOES' NEW USE

They Are Sent From England to China and Come Back as Spades.

Alfred Young is not a believer in the luck proverbially attached to a horseshoe, says the London Express. While loading a ship with a whole cargo of them at the Albert docks he fell 30 feet. He recovered £50 damages from the stevedore.

"What are these old horseshoes for?" the Bow county court judge wanted to know.

"For China," replied counsel. "They go out as horseshoes and come back as spades to compete with our own goods."

"It seems remarkable," observed his honor in a tone of surprise.

"Well, the Chinese are remarkable people," was the rejoinder.

Evidently the "yellow peril" is nearer than we thought when the Chinese manufacture our spades.

Electricity In Peking.

This use of electricity would do a good deal to abolish night crimes just as the introduction of gas street lighting did in London, England. The Universal Gazette tells us that the firm of Mandl & Co. of Tien-tsin has now received the sanction of the princes and ministers to proceed with road building and electric lighting for the capital. If the Boxers had had a searchlight, it would have been worse for the legations during the siege. So we need, says the Shanghai Mercury, not be sorry that electric lighting has been delayed so long.

Hearsay Evidence.

Judge (to witness)—Let me remind you that your evidence in this court is given upon oath, so that you will only be allowed to state what you know from your own observation and not what other people have told you. In the first place, you are a medical practitioner?

Witness—I cannot say that I am, my lord. I only know it from hearsay. I have had no patients yet.

The Skate Fish.

The ray, or skate fish, has a mouth set transversely across its head, the jaws working with a rolling motion like two hands set back to back. In the jaws are three rows of flat teeth, set like a mosaic pavement, and between these rolling jaws the fish crushes oysters and other mollusks like so many nuts.

QUICK ON THE TRIGGER.

Two Dead Shots Settle an Argument About Their Skill.

State Line, Utah, Aug. 13. — Jim Hedges was killed in a street duel by Jim Glendenning, a miner, who was afterward arrested and placed in jail. Hedges for years had the reputation of being a "bad man," and during his 20 years' residence in the border town killed three men in street encounters. Hedges and Glendenning got into a controversy as to their respective merits as revolver experts, and as a result Hedges challenged Glendenning to a fight. Hedges went after his revolver, and mixing in the crowd shot Glendenning in the arm before the latter was aware of his presence. Glendenning returned the fire and put two bullets through Hedges' heart within two inches of each other.

Coaling For Trip to Colon.

Norfolk, Aug. 13.—The gunboat Machias, en route for Colon, has been loading coal, provisions and ammunition in Hampton Roads since Saturday. A large part of the supplies came from the Brooklyn navy yard and a great deal of ammunition was prepared at the St. Helena magazine here. The vessel is likely to sail at any moment. She will carry a full complement of men. A number of graduated apprentices from the training ship Lancaster, now in port, have been transferred to the Machias. It is not probable that the boat will put in at any other port between here and her destination.

Manilla Police Force.

Manilla, Aug. 13. — Civil Governor Taft in the immediate future will reduce the police force of Manilla by one half. At present there are 1,300 policemen for the city, whose population numbers only 250,000 souls. The governor considers it unnecessary to have over 600 policemen, as they are not required for military purposes. Besides in the event of trouble, the policemen of Manilla would not be able to cope with the situation and the military forces would be called upon.

Murder and Suicide.

Cincinnati, Aug. 13.—Since Saturday night Robert Stephenson and Mrs. Lillie Kinspert have been dead in a room at 1513 Cutter street, and when the police broke open the door Monday night murder and suicide were disclosed. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at H. F. Vortkamp's drug store.

At the present time Europe probably turns out about 500,000,000 matches a day and the United States twice that amount. Fifty million feet of lumber are consumed annually in this country alone by the matchmakers, and yet not over 15,000 people are employed in the industry.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grand-daughter of a severe attack of Whooping Cough." It positively cures coughs, colds, la grippe, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at H. F. Vortkamp's drug store.

DEUTSCH PRIZE TRIALS

Former Inventors and Tests of Dirigible Balloons.

SANTOS-DUMONT'S OTHER ASCENTS

General Plan Pursued by the Daring Young Navigator, Who Is an Engineer by Profession—Expert's Description of the Construction of Balloon That Was Wrecked.

The Deutsch prize, which M. Santos-Dumont, who has just narrowly escaped death in attempting to circle the Eiffel tower in his dirigible balloon, has been trying for two summers to win, was offered in March, 1900, says the New York Tribune. The conditions of the contest were these: The aeronaut should start from Suresnes, about three and one-half miles from the Eiffel tower, make a voyage around that colossal structure and return to the point of departure inside of 30 minutes. To do so it would be necessary to travel at the rate of 14 miles or more an hour for full seven miles and demonstrate the feasibility of propelling, steering and otherwise successfully managing his craft. The sum to be given is $20,000.

M. Santos-Dumont got his airship up several times in the spring and summer of 1900 and made the attempt informally—that is, without summoning the judges to witness the performance. Finally he made a trial under official scrutiny. This was in September. But something went wrong with his apparatus, and he descended before completing the journey. His first notable ascent this year was not made over the Suresnes-Eiffel tower course and hence was not an attempt to secure the prize. He sailed from St. Cloud to the Longchamps race course and simply maneuvered in the air.

The general plan which this daring young navigator pursues is much like that of Captain Krebs and Renard of the French army in 1885. They employed a gas bag to sustain their apparatus and shaped it like a cigar in order to reduce atmospheric resistance. With a screw propeller, driven by an electric motor and storage battery, Krebs and Renard developed a speed of 14 miles an hour, but this was maintained for only a few minutes.

Among those who have followed this well known precedent was the German Count von Zeppelin, who tried his airship over Lake Constance last year both in July and October. The enormous size of the craft—it was over 400 feet long—and the man's own prominence as a military officer and friend of the king of Wurttemberg attracted so much attention to the venture that scarcely anybody noticed Santos-Dumont, whose work was really much more promising. Von Zeppelin had a big ship with a feeble engine, a small gasoline motor, while the modest young Brazilian in Paris had a small ship, with a motor which was relatively much more powerful. In certain details perhaps his craft was superior. Von Zeppelin was doomed to failure from the outset. He made eight or ten miles an hour for a few minutes, but could not beat the record. He spent a good deal of money, mostly his own, and has now definitely retired from the field.

Santos-Dumont is an engineer by profession and about 26 years old. His gasoline motor is a marvel of lightness. It was designed especially by the Messrs. Daimler, develops seven horsepower and weighs 70 pounds. The gasoline tanks are cigar shaped. But even with this beautiful equipment, in some respects unequaled, Santos-Dumont has not yet beaten the record of Krebs and Renard.

This accident, which resulted so happily, reminds one of the fate of Herr Lilienthal, who lost his life in August, 1896, through the wrecking of his flying machine. That device was practically a pair of large wings and meant to sustain him while he slid down an aerial slope from a house top or a cliff. He had made 2,000 such flights before his death.

A young Englishman, Pilcher, who imitated Lilienthal to some extent, but exhibited much originality, met a similar fate in 1899. His plan was to start from the surface and rise very gently while horses towed him. Evidently he meant to drive his aeroplane with a gas motor.

The construction of M. Santos-Dumont's balloon is thus closely described in the current number of The Scientific American:

"The balloon proper is cylindrical and is covered with silk, its extremities being pointed. It is 111 feet long, and its cubical capacity is 19,300 feet. Suspended by piano wire some 35 or 40 feet below the balloon is a light framework whose profile very much resembles that of the balloon proper. The framework is triangular in section and is formed of three long pieces of wood, secured at the end and strengthened by cross bracing and steel wires. This framework supports a four cylinder, 16 horsepower motor of the Dion-Bouton type, the fuel reservoir, the shaft and the propeller. The engine is placed well toward one end, and the aeronaut rides in a light basket at the other end. Here he has under his control all of the machinery for maneuvering the balloon, also the ballast and the guide ropes.

"The respective positions of the various weights were determined after many experiments, and its equilibrium is perfect. This assures its horizontality and an equal tension on the suspenders. This explains why the aeronaut is so far separated from his motor. The propeller, 14 feet in diameter, is composed of two vanes of wood and steel, covered with silk and highly varnished. It attains a speed of 150 turns a minute.

"The steering device is of silk and is placed between the balloon and the framework above the propeller. The balloon is inflated with hydrogen, and in order to maintain at all times a tension on the envelope—that is to say, perfect inflation—a compensating balloon filled with air is placed in the interior. This is inflated automatically, as required, by a small compressor actuated by the motor, the air being conducted to it by tubing. A guide rope is suspended under the framework, and with its aid the necessary inclination is obtained to effect the movements of ascent and descent. Such, in brief, are the apparatus and method employed by M. Santos-Dumont."

AUTOMOBILE RACE PLANS.

Plans to Eliminate Danger to Spectators at Newport's Contest.

The members of the city government of Newport appointed to act in the matter of the automobile races on Aug. 30 held a meeting the other night and received propositions from the National Automobile Racing association in regard to the manner in which the road races will be held. The association has agreed to employ at its expense some 30 or 40 special policemen, who will be placed at intervals along the course to prevent the possibility of any accident. There will also be a reserve squad of a half dozen men that can be called upon in case of an accident. The city solicitor has also been instructed to draw up a form of agreement, which every automobilist who starts in the race must sign, which releases the city from any expense caused by an accident. If one refuses to sign this agreement, he will not be allowed to start.

It has been decided to have the races start and finish in front of Crossways, the villa of Stuyvesant Fish. The course will be around the drive and across Carroll avenue, coming out by Mr. Fish's again. Red danger flags will be placed at all roads and every precaution taken to prevent any accident.

The petition sent to the city asking for permission to hold the races was headed by the name of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, and she is being congratulated on all sides today, as it has been called the Oelrichs petition.

JAPANESE WIFE HIS NURSE.

Sir Edwin Arnold, Blind and Paralyzed, Devotedly Taken Care Of.

The Mussmee has brown, velvet eyes,
Curtained with satin, sleepily;
You wonder if those lids would rise
The newest, strangest sight to see.
But when she chatters, laughs or plays
Koto, biwa or samisen,
No jewel gleams with brighter rays
Than flash from those dark lashes then.
—"The Mussmee," Sir Edwin Arnold.

The pathetic tenderness and faithfulness of the Japanese wife of Sir Edwin Arnold in his stricken condition have caused great comment in social and literary circles in London, says the New York Evening Journal. Sir Edwin has lost the sight of his eyes, and as a result of paralysis he cannot walk a step. Constant and tender in her devotion to him is his little dark faced wife, who before her marriage was Mrs. Warrande, the widow of a distinguished officer of the Japanese army.

The talk of the town was Sir Edwin's marriage to his sweet faced wife. He met her in Yokohama in 1891 when he was visiting Japan with his daughter Edith. Their marriage was sudden, so sudden that Miss Edith was shocked. It was explained to her that they had been wedded by the Japanese method of drinking a cup of tea together. When the daughter asked her father about the ceremony, which seemed to her questionable, he said:

"It is the custom of the country and will be as binding on me as would be a pompous ceremony in a cathedral."

DOG JOINS A LODGE.

Initiated Into the Fraternity of the Knights of Pythias.

A thoroughbred pet dog was made a full fledged Knight of Pythias by Kearney lodge of Chambersburg, Pa., the other evening, says the Philadelphia Press. Actor William Mong, whose home is at Chambersburg, took the last degree and requested that his dog be allowed to walk the narrow path with him. It was agreed to, and the Skye terrier made the rounds with his master.

As far as is known he is the only canine Knight of Pythias in the world.

Midsummer.

The katydid is in the grass,
The locust in the tree,
And, one by night and one by day,
They're singing merrily.
The butterfly sips nectar from
The cup of every flow'r,
And sweets are gathered by the bee
In garden, field and bow'r.

The berries gleam through tangled vines
Along the dusty way;
In fields the tasseled rows of corn
Amid the breezes sway.
High up in air the sable crows
Go by with flapping wing,
And from their coverts in the woods
The timid rabbits spring.

The branches in the orchards droop
Within the passer's reach,
Borne down by ever growing weight
Of apple, pear and peach,
And now and then one leaves the stem
To which it long has clung,
For it has mellowed ere its time
Or to its heart was stung.

Down where the sea forever rolls,
Or on the mountain crest,
Or where the breezes sweep the lake,
Man now is finding rest.
A vigor new is in the step,
And hearts in rapture leap,
For there is gladness all the day,
And with the night comes sleep.

There's beauty in the lake and sea
And on the hill and plain;
The sunshine gilds the woods and fields;
There's blessing in the rain.
The charms of nature now are seen
In all their glorious prime,
For there has come to us again
The noon of summer time.

"Crying for the Moon"

Has become a proverbial phrase to express the futility of mere desire. There are a great many people who think it is useless to hope for health as to cry for the moon. They have tried many medicines and many doctors, but all in vain.

A great many hopeless men and women have been cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; people with obstinate coughs, bleeding lungs, night sweats and other symptoms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

"Golden Medical Discovery" has a wonderful healing power. It increases the nutrition of the body, and so gives strength to throw off disease. It cleanses the blood from poisonous impurities and enriches it with the red corpuscles of health. It is not a stimulant, but a strength giving medicine. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

Sometimes the extra profit paid by inferior medicines tempts the dealer to offer a substitute as "just as good" as "Discovery." If you are convinced that "Discovery" will cure you accept nothing else.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mr. [illegible] Lawler, of Volga, Jefferson Co., Indiana. "I had stomach, kidney, heart, and lung trouble. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs. But after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and flesh, and stopped coughing right away. Took about six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' then, and last spring I had Grippe, and it settled on my lungs, leaving me with a severe cough. I had the doctor, but he didn't seem to help me any. I commenced your medicine again and took three or four bottles of the 'Discovery' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and that straightened me up. I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers, for I know it cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation by curing its cause.

NOVEL FAD IN SCHOOLS.

Children to Be Taught Basket Making in Chicago.

Another public school fad is making headway in the west. This is basket making. It originated in Minneapolis and is to be tried in Chicago, says the New York Post. Its basis is the idea that the childhood of an individual is similar in its impulses to the childhood of the race. Axes of chipped stone were made by the human race in its infancy. Instruction in the making of stone hatchets is not practicable, however, and therefore the making of rattan baskets was substituted. A few of the Minneapolis teachers learned the art and then taught their pupils.

The board of education grew enthusiastic over the beautiful glove boxes and flower pot holders which were made by the school children and appropriated $3,000 to buy materials and pay for instruction in rattan basket making in the first four grades of the schools. Next in order of course was a school for teachers in basket making. This is in session in Chicago and is attended by 90 women and 2 men.

There is a practical side to the matter, according to the Minneapolis leader of the fad. "One little girl," she says, "sold several of her baskets at 50 cents apiece and took orders for a number more. She brought $9 home to her mother, a hard working washerwoman, and perhaps you can imagine the little thing's joy and pride."

Some Daring Youths Said to be Responsible for the "Spirit" Rappings Heard in a House at Uniopolis.

The south side is once more harassed by a large number of tramps, who are making their headquarters in the vicinity of the railroads. Almost nightly various depredations are committed mostly of an inconsequential, but annoying nature. A number of persons are minus various articles of different values left thoughtlessly unsecured. Sunday night about twelve o'clock J. A. Mateer, who recently came to south Lima, was aroused by some one attempting to effect an entrance into his house. He stole out a side door to the rear of the house when he was observed by two men who quickly took flight before he could ascertain their identity. Upon examination it was found they had pried off a screen door. Several other cases are reported of persons being awakened by what is thought to have been persons prowling about their premises.

Work upon the new Catholic church on south Main street is rapidly progressing. Excavating is completed. The foundation work will be commenced shortly. Father Rupert is now arranging affairs for the corner stone laying, which it is purposed to have occur September 8. The occasion will be marked by notable ecclesiastical, fraternal and civic ceremonies.

Little Harry Spoustler had an experience Monday which he does not care to soon have reoccur. He was playing near his home on St. Johns avenue when a farmer in a wagon passed. The lad climbed into the vehicle to take a ride. The man and boy engaged in conversation from which the farmer misunderstood the boy to say he lived in the country. Willing to carry him he took the boy several miles into the country before obtaining a different impression. The boy had no alternative but to walk back home which he did, arriving there toward evening nearly exhausted.

Tonight another of a series of delightful social session under the auspices of the Epworth League of Grace M. E. church will be held at the home of S. V. Cochran, on south Jackson street.

Miss Maggie Cook, residing on St. Johns avenue, is confined to her home by sickness.

Miss Grace Sumerly has returned to her home at Kenton, having spent a few days in south Lima with friends.

James A. Grant, who was the guest of Rev. Clarence Mitchell returned yesterday evening to his home at Piqua.

The Sunday school class of Mrs. C. Brookhart, from Grace church, enjoyed a picnic at Hover's park today. The day's outing abounded in many pleasant features. Mrs. Brookhart personally chaperoned the party of little folks all of whom enjoyed the event immensely.

Thursday the Sunday school of the south Lima Christain church will have a picnic at Hover's park. Extensive preparations are being made for what will evertuate into an exceedingly happy affair.

A number of spiritualists as well as others in south Lima have made frequent trips to Uniopolis recently to investigate what is said to be a strange phenomina in a building in the principal part of the village. It appears that some nervous tenants who formerly occupied the rooms which are over Green Brothers hardware store, succeeded in convincing themselves there were mysteries transpiring all about them. The solemn antics of the spooks were thoroughly advertised to the end that the noisy shadows are proclaimed with alarm, persons coming many miles to hear the strange rappings of frightful spirits which in all probability emanate from the rear of the store below where some very mischievous boys are wont to congregate at night. Notwithstanding a minister of south Lima, a prominent citizen, also a party of spiritualists have spent a night with the mysterious beings, receiving and sending messages to spirit land while you wait. The ghosts are quite accommodating, giving whatever answer one may indicate by their question would be most pleasing. Last night several from the south side were in the cell of mysteries, carrying on an animated conversation with any old spirit they chose when a big fat vision walked into the room and broke the trumpet the spiritualists present were using, into several pieces. The ghost stood around and chewed the rag in a deep bass voice for quite awhile before the crowd made a dig for down stairs. They returned home early this morning thoroughly convinced there is something exceedingly mysterious about the entire transaction.

Edward Schwartz, of Greenlawn avenue, went to Belleview today for a several weeks visit.

Miss Edith Wagner returned yesterday to her home at Ft. Recovery, after a week's visit in this city.

Charles Baldwin, of south Main street, is in Indiana upon a business mission.

George King, accompanied by his two daughters, having paid a visit at the home of Daniel Baker, left yesterday afternoon for their home at Fremont.

Miss Agnes Rosenbeck, of Saginaw, Mich., came here yesterday to join her sisters from Celina, the party attend the Pan-American.

A. Roushe, of Cincinnati, is removing with his family to south Lima, where they will commence their residence on south Union street.

H. M. Dille of the south side, and his wife, have returned from a pleasant visit with Kenton friends.

Rev. E. T. Bowdle, of west Kibby street, returned yesterday from Findlay, where he attended the camp meeting in session there the past week. He was accompanied by Miss Nellie Lawhead, of Van Wert, an evangilist, who remained a guest at his home a short time. Mr. Bowdle reports the camp meeting a fine success spiritually and otherwise.

Mrs. Barns, of Muncie, Ind., is the guest of her brother, John Boshey, of the south side.

Frank Adams, of Ada, is in the city for a week's visit with friends.

Miss Anna Carter, residing near Lafayette, is staying with south Lima friends while attending the teachers institute.

Mrs. Harry Grady, of Kenton, is being entertained by her sisters, the Misses Bruce, at their home on St Johns avenue.

F. L. Darby, of West Cairo, is visiting south side relatives, also attending the teacher's institute.

Very Little Excitement to be Found

And Marion, Ind., Furnishes About All That is Heard from.

Even This Territory, Although Boomed in a Very Energetic Manner, is Said to be Unprofitable.

The oil business of the west has assumed a very quiet attitude. There is no excitement in any quarter if Marion Ind., does not answer that call. In the latter field there is perhaps more inquiry for leases and a greater number of visitors thereto than other sections can boast of at the present moment. There is, moreover, a feeling that the Indiana field must in the future furnish the trade with drillable territory. Ohio seems to be pretty well used up in this direction, and for that reason many of the operators who have shunned the Hoosier country, now begin not only to talk about it, but actually to act in a business way.

There are those who do not believe that money can be made in that field in producing oil and cite their own experience in proof. Among these is Dr. Tuller of Bowling Green. He, in company with others, says the Toledo Times, had a farm near Van Buren, in Grant county. They had six wells thereon, which were operated in the most approved style, by as good a man as Ed Keenan. Yet it was impossible to more than keep even, though the regular expense account was not unduly large.

When the fact was cited to him that there were parties in that state who were realizing handsomely upon the capital invested he could not credit it. But opinion is worth its own weight to the party possessing it, and that is all. No matter what one may think or another may say the Indiana field from now on will command the attention of the oil trade.

Its vast undrilled areas are inviting and even in the face of former failure in certain sections those that give any promise whatever will be attended to.

In Ohio all the spots within the compass or fold of the oil bearing areas have been pretty well absorbed. For that reason some are willing to venture outside a little. One case was given in The Times last week, that of W. H. Gilbert's venture west of Rooster Church in Waterville township. This well has a rock pressure, it is said, of 700 pounds and is clear of water and but little oil. The formation is of the first-class. The sand was found about 237 feet lower than at the producing wells eastward only about one-quarter of a mile. The result would indicate the existence of more gas as well as more oil somewhere in the neighborhood. It will probably be drilled for and found if it is there.

Spencerville Field.

Federal Oil Co., & Herring completed No. 2, Wrocklege farm, Marion township, Saturday. First day's production 120 barrels.

Federal Oil Co. & Herring completed No. 2, Brotherton farm, Spencer township, Saturday. Good for 80 berrels.

Rugh, DeLo & Fisher completed No. 2, Saturday Wagener farm, Spencer township.

Cuba Petroleum company completed No. 1, York township, Friday. It did 80 barrels.

Texas Gushers.

Gusher No. 21 has been introduced to the citizens of Beaumont. This is the property of Cox & Josey, and is not stocked for millions or any other amount. The well is located near the southeast corner of the Hogg-Swayne property, about 150 feet from another gusher known as the Ground Floor well. It widens the belt at the point named just that much.

The Hammond well at Sour Lake is down 1,000 feet and as yet has no showing. On its journey it passed through seven distinct oil rocks so called. None of the seven would produce any oil, however.

A man named Greeves has established a machine shop on Spindletop Heights. This is the latest from the center ofthe earth.

Quite a number of wells have been shut down in the eastern fields on account of a scarcity of water.

The fifth sand pool north of Beals' Mills, Lewis county, W. Va., is making quite a promising record for itself. The South Penn Oil company drilled in a well there last week that made 75 barrels the first 18 hours. It is located on the Mullady farm. There are 23 wells in the pool that are credited with 200 barrels a day in the aggregate.

The Manufactureers' Gas company has a new well in the Bristoria, Green county, Pa., field that starts at 10 barrels an hour.

The South Penn Oil company's No. 7, on the Acha Eddy farm, in the Cross Roads field, Monongalia county, W. Va. is doing 220 barrels a day.

The daily average shipments eastern fields thus far this month are 98,709 barrels and the runs 83,351 barrels.

We understand that J. W. Adams, president of the Dahlonega Consolidated company, is turning his attention to the oil fields. Last week he telephoned Charlie Singleton, at Dahlonega, to come at once to the place where oil has recently been struck in Tennessee. The captain may understand oil mining better than he does gold mining and make his millions yet.—Nugget.

Oil In Galion, O.

A dispatch from Galion, Ohio says: While drilling a well at the residence of Charles Braun, in the heart of the city, Berger Brothers struck oil at a depth of one hundred feet. The oil appears to promise well and is said to be of better quality than the product of the Lima field. Oil was discovered under similar circumstance in this city recently.

OBITUARY.

Margaret Reed was born near Poland, Mahoning county, Ohio, December 21, 1828, died July 26, 1901, aged 72 years, 7 months and 5 days.

Her parents were of Scotch-Irish descent, having come to this country at an early date. Her father's people first settled at Steubenville, Ohio, from there they went to Poland, where they resided until death. Her mother's people, the Slaven's, settled at Brownville. After remaining there some time they too settled at Poland, Ohio. Deceased was the eighth of a family of ten children, all reaching the age of maturity except one. Barnabas Reed, of Poland, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Marshall, of Rockport, Ohio, survive her.

Margaret Reed was united in marriage to Ephriam P. Bowers in the year 1859. Four children were born to this union, Alice R., Harvey S., Mary E., and Ida J. Bowers, the eldest having died March 4, 1873. Husband, two daughters and one son are left to mourn her loss. She united with the Presbyterian church, of Poland, Ohio, and when she moved to this place she transferred her membership to the Rockport Presbyterian church, where she has proven her faithfulness and loyalty to the church by regular attendance at the preaching services and Sunday school services. Though of a quiet disposition, she was true and faithful in the discharge of her duties in the home, the church, and the community of which she has been a citizen so long.

Groot has not yet found a man willing to become a candidate for governor on the Bolters ticket. The crown has thrice been proffered Abner L. Davis, the Findlay real estate man but it has rejected by him. Hanna should help Groot out in his trouble, inasmuch as the Groot side-show is one of Mark's special enterprises.

The billion-dollar steel trust paid over $8,800,000 in dividends, this week, representing profits accumulated during the first three months of its existence. Eight millions eight hundred thousands per quarter would be $35,200,000 per year. This is 4 per cent on $880,000,000. A 3 per cent tax rate applied on 60 per cent of $880,000,000 valuation would yield Cleveland, O., $15,840,000. Maybe Uncle Mark Hanna was thinking of Tom Johnson's method of taxing corporations when he said that trusts are not bad things.—Cleveland Press.

One very good and all-sufficient reason for the ineffectiveness of Lord Kitchener's proclamation of permanent banishment against all Boer leaders who shall fail to surrender by September 15 next is that probably not one of the burghers who would be affected thereby will hear of the pronunciamento before the date mentioned. How can men be influenced by a threat of the making whereof they must remain in blissful ignorance? The proclamation is not assailable on the score of inhumanity; as a war measure a form of procedure far more drastic would be justifiable. It is the futility and absurdity of the proclamation that lays the same open to criticism. Fortunately for his reputation, Lord Kitchener is not the author of the document; it is an emanation from the colonial office, and bears all the marks of Chamberlainian ineptitude. The colonial secretary is bound to the last to be clumsy and ridiculous in his direction of South African affairs.

Representative Livingstone, of Georgia, a member of the industrial commission, is authority for the statement that the trust question will be handled by that body in a bold and wholly non-partisan fashion, and that congress will be asked in the report that will be laid before it, to solve the problem of industrial conditions.

He divides the country into two great trusts—capital and labor—and says that the masses affected by the operations of these bodies will demand permanent relief from their maneuvers.

"It is the great issue now before the country," he said, "and congress must have the matter so clearly set before it that a basis of settlement can be reached at an early day.

"The question is not political, for individuals of both great parties are directly interested in the trusts, and the present state of affairs cannot continue much longer without serious results. The trusts and the great labor combinations must not be permitted to have full sway of the situation and jeopardize the interests and welfare of the great middle masses. Prompt measures should be taken for the protection of the people under the laws of the United States. Recommendations to this effect will be made to congress in the forthcoming report of the committee."

The following clipping from the St. Louis Republic should be read by every workingman and family in this county:

It is a familiar coincidence that Republican managers deprecate the steel strike because of its inevitable injury to their party in the approaching Ohio election, the steel trust being so closely identified with the McKinley administration.

Whenever you find organized labor engaged in a movement to better the condition of the workingman you find the Republican party opposed to organized labor.

This seems to be as certain as that the sun rises in the east and sets in west. There is, apparently, no exception to the rule. The alignment is invariably the same.

The reason is plain. The Republican party as organized and directed by Mark Hanna is the rich man's party. Its control of government is in the interest of the rich man. It has created in this country a multimillionaire caste of trade aristocrats whose fortunes have been massed through special privileges granted at the sacrifice of the people's rights.

As between the privileges of this caste and the rights of the workingman the Republican party decides every time in favor of the former. It has no use for a poor man except as the beast of burden who makes money for the rich man.

The Republican leaders know that they have good cause to fear the treatment of organized labor. They cannot point to one instance in which their party has stood on the side of organized labor as against the exactions and oppressions of the trusts. The steel strike is logically injurious to the Republican party. It is so because organized labor is fighting the trusts in that conflict, and the Republican party is the creator and defender of the trusts.

Who can question the truth of the statements made in the above article? If the great steel trust succeeds in crushing organized labor at the present time, the last foe in the field will have fallen and the trusts can then ride rough shod over the producer and small manufacturer.

THE OHIO CONVENTION.

Mr. Bryan has been misinformed as to the Ohio Democratic convention. Instead of being controlled by Wall street influences it was made up almost exclusively of Democrats who loyally supported Mr. Bryan in 1896 and 1900, and who controlled themselves this year in the state convention. Neither the platform committee nor the convention was controlled by John R. McLean, Tom Johnson or any other individual Democrat in or out of Ohio. And the delegates who helped carry through the Bryan platform at Kansas City last year were very much in evidence in the state convention. The chairman and secretary of the convention, the chairmen of the important committees on resolutions and credentials and every officer in fact of the convention, as well as nearly all of the delegates were loyal supporters of Bryan and the straight Democratic ticket in 1896 and 1900. This is the truth about the matter, and every delegate knows it.—Toledo Bee.

MISS BEAL IN DEMAND.

Husbands Galore For Girl Who Drew a Lucky Claim.

GETS MANY KINDS OF LETTERS.

Alleged Railroad Manager Offers Her a Big Block of Railroad Stocks as an Inducement—Medical Student Wants Her to Wait Two Years. Young Kansan Means Business.

Miss Mattie Beal of Wichita, Kan., who drew the second choice claim in the Lawton land district, is receiving as high as 100 proposals of marriage daily from all parts of the United States. In her absence in Oklahoma her mother and sister open them and find much amusement in their perusal. They expressed the other day about 200 of the letters to Miss Beal, who had not seen any of them owing to the fact that she has been away from home practically all the time since hearing of her good fortune.

Mrs. Beal allowed a representative of the Kansas City Times to look over such of the letters as were not marked "confidential," and he noted some peculiar phases of love sickness. One man claiming to be a railroad manager in Michigan gushes forth his love for Miss Beal in eloquent language and promises to make her a present of a block of railroad stocks worth from $30,000 to $40,000 if she becomes his wife. He says his friends call him handsome, that he is a widower, and, though far advanced in years, he looks young. He refused to give his name, but gave her the number of a postoffice box at a station in the vicinity of Detroit which he said he had rented especially for her communications to him, promising that when he should receive one letter from her he would satisfy her as to his identity and position.

The senior partner in a Kansas City manufacturing enterprise tendered Miss Beal his heart in a very pathetic manner, saying his last wife had been a telephone girl, whose brief reign of a year and a half over his household filled his home with sunshine. She died about three years ago.

A young man in St. Louis with $4,000 cash and a house in Joliet, Ills., worth $3,000 begs Miss Beal to let him know whether her heart is not pledged. His chief recommendation to her outside of his cash and tenement is that he wears a No. 6 shoe.

A saloon keeper at Paris, Tenn., would fain win her heart by means of a photograph and a positive assertion that while he is 30 years of age he has never loved a woman and did not think he ever should until he heard of her. He postscribes the fact that he is strictly temperate and of a good disposition.

A wealthy Baltimore lady asks her to appropriate an acre of her claim to the cultivation of roses as a thanks offering to fortune.

A Tennessee young man boasts of having in his veins the best cavalier blood of the south and offers a long pedigree as an inducement for her to wed him.

A young man of Waterbury, Conn., asks nothing better than to be her neighbor and wants her to inform him how he can secure the claim adjoining hers. He has the money to pay for it straight, he says.

A "poor" young man living at Brazilton, Kan., is the only one who so far has inclosed stamps for a reply to his proposal.

"My proposal to you is not an idle fancy or transient passion," says a young manufacturer of New Trenton, Ind. "It is prompted by an impulse which I cannot control and impelled onward by a passion which overwhelms every other consideration. I have dared to address you with the hope that fortune, which sometimes seconds a desperate resolve, may favor my suit. Pray, madam, do me the favor to consider and approve my proposal."

One young man who is attending the Illinois Medical college at Jacksonville wants and begs her to wait two years for him. He says he will graduate then and will be in a position to make her lots of money.

One young man, a Kansan, of course, says: "You do not know how to farm. I do. If you marry me, I can furnish $200 in cash and $350 worth of farming utensils." It is cold business with the Kansas man.

Monument to Missionaries.

A monument will be erected in Oberlin, O., soon which will be a suitable memorial to the memory of the martyred missionaries in China, says the New York World. It will take the form of an elaborate granite or marble shaft or a bowlder bearing the names of the missionaries who lost their lives. The memorial is to be paid for by a voluntary subscription fund. The original "Oberlin band" sent forth from Oberlin and many retired missionaries, including Dr. Ament of Mark Twain fame, have homes in Oberlin.

The Christening Ring.

The christening ring is a new fad. It is a token of love and gratitude presented by a happy benedict to his wife on the occasion of the baptism of their first child. George Vanderbilt has the credit of having started the fashion, and the ring which he gave his wife is said to be worth $6,000, having once been worn by a royal princess, says the Chicago News. The little finger is the place of the christening ring, and to be correct it ought to be set with the birthstone of the mother.

Uncle Sam's next new experiment, says the Boston Globe, is likely to be in the line of submarine signaling.

BRESCI NOT ASSASSIN.

Detective Says Granotti Fired Shot That Killed Humbert.

SECRET REVEALED IN A LETTER.

Segura, the Sleuth, Declares Paterson Anarchists Are After Him For Betraying Them, and He Must Flee For His Life—Once Held by Anarchists For Three Days.

For divulging what he says is the most closely guarded of all anarchistic secrets—that Bresci was not the man who slew King Humbert—and for revealing the name of the man who, it is alleged, really fired the fatal shot Alexander P. Segura, a detective in the employ of the Italian government, is forced, he declares, to flee the country, with the fear of death upon him.

The man who killed Humbert is, according to Segura, one Luigi Granotti, a former comrade of Bresci in Paterson, who stood at Bresci's side when the latter fired on the king, says the New York Journal. Granotti is said to have fired the fatal shot after Bresci had thrice discharged his revolver without effect.

This discovery was made by Segura, he maintains, while he was working in the guise of a silk mill hand among the anarchists of Paterson. Segura first went to Paterson a year ago to investigate the murder of Giuseppe Pessina by Sparundi Caraboni, alias Luigi Bianchi, a fellow anarchist. Bianchi was the man who in May, 1900, drew the fatal number out of 113 ballots, which called upon him to assassinate King Humbert. Bianchi refused to undertake the desperate mission, and Bresci immediately volunteered in his place.

Soon afterward Bianchi, in response to orders, it is alleged, issued by the anarchist group El Maternel in Philadelphia, murdered Pessina, who was suspected of being a spy. A day or two later Bianchi himself was found dead, having apparently committed suicide. In his pockets were found documents which gave the Italian detectives the first hint of the intended murder of the king.

Segura continued to work in the mill without exciting the least suspicion as to his real mission among the anarchists, who freely initiated him into all their secrets. Last October Segura says he was shown a letter from Granotti dated at Paris, in which he declared that it was he and not Bresci who fired the shot that killed King Humbert on July 29. Granotti declared that Bresci missed three times, and that then he (Granotti) took careful aim and brought down the king, escaping afterward in the confusion. It was said at the time of the assassination that four shots were heard, but that only three chambers in Bresci's revolver were found to have been discharged.

Segura at once notified the Italian consul, and efforts were made to capture Granotti, but he had fled from Paris. A week later Segura was shown another letter from Granotti dated at Glasgow. A large reward is now standing for Granotti's arrest.

At a meeting held in Paterson on July 2 a plot was hatched, it is declared, to kill the czar of Russia and Emperor William of Germany. Four anarchists were chosen by lot to assassinate the two monarchs. They were Victor Regoli, Andrione Cannalucci, Cuvico Morelli and Tomaso Minelli, all of whom sailed for Europe in May. Morelli was recently arrested in Berlin.

Segura learned that mail for all four men is still being received at the office of the anarchist paper La Revell in Geneva, Switzerland. Learning that one Giovanni Giudici, living in Barre, Vt., was to join the four in Europe, Segura went to Barre, talked with Giudici and, after learning all the details of the plot, accompanied Giudici to Montreal, where the latter sailed on the Allan liner Parisian, destined for Berlin. Ten days ago Segura again paid a visit to Barre, where he was recognized as a detective.

One dark night, he says, he was enticed into a lonely street, knocked down, gagged and blindfolded and thrown into a wagon, in which he was driven to an isolated hut in the woods, where he was detained for three days, being constantly threatened with death. On the third night, he narrates, he was driven in a closed carriage to Montpelier Junction and left there after being warned not to return to Barre on pain of death.

Luckily for Segura the Barre anarchists were ignorant of the fact that he was the man who had denounced Granotti as the assassin of Humbert. Had they known this he would, he says, without doubt have instantly been put to death. On returning to New York the other day Segura learned that he had been betrayed to the Paterson anarchists, who are hot on his trail. Realizing his peril, he at once made arrangements to take the first steamer for his home in Smyrna, Asia Minor.

New Game For Billiardists.

The billiardists around the Gibson and Honing are playing a new game, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune. It has no name, but it requires great skill to be successful. One of the red balls is "froze" in the lower right hand corner. In the left hand corner a line is drawn in order to make a space of about eight inches between the line and corner. The cue ball must be driven to the left cushion and then to the upper cushion, thence to the red ball in the corner, the object being to drive the red ball from the corner into the space in the other corner in the least number of shots. It looks easy, but try it.

AS TO CLOTHING.

THERE is an epitaph in a Vermont churchyard: "I expected this but not so soon." Such is the epitaph on clothing worn out in the wash-tub. Underclothing may be fragile, yet it ought not to wear out in ten weeks. But this isn't wear; it is decay. You buy 5 cents worth of cheap soap and you lose the equivalent of 50 cents in the wash-tub. Ivory Soap will not harm the most delicate fabric. Is it wise not to use it?

DROVE

Americans Out of South Africa

AndNowClaim

Granting Indemnity an "Act of Grace."

Damages are Demanded for Deportation from South Africa.

An Insolent Remark by British Chairman is Promptly Called by the Attorney for the Americans.

London, Aug. 13.—Before the South African compensation commission, Newton Crane, counsel for the American claimants, has submitted the American claims.

Dr. A. E. Conroy of Chicago, a member of the Red Cross society, asks for £7,000 for losses of surgical instruments, horses and wagons.

A. J Gibsener, formerly of Galveston, Tex., now stranded in Saxony, went to South Africa in the capacity of assayer and was deported from East London. He asserts he is ruined in health and fortune and wants £10,000. He makes his claim in a letter to President McKinley, with whom, he says, he fought in the Shenandoah valley during the civil war.

S. J. Ahring of Brooklyn, who was expelled from Bloemfontein, asks £800 for the loss of his grocery and goods.

Anna Weckind of Brooklyn claims £134 for deportation and loss of employment in the capacity of cook.

Nine miners claim varying sums for deportation. They were accused of complicity in the plot against Lord Roberts

Mr. Crane said the claims were made in behalf of the United States government.

The chairman, Mr. Milvain, said he thought no allowance could be made for legal claims. Something, possibly, might be given to others, as an act of grace, but the foreign office had laid down the principle that the military authorities had power to expel any one hostile or inconvenient. Mr. Crane objected to this view and pressed the commission for a clearer exposition of its powers. The chairman somewhat testily told Mr. Crane he must not interrogate the commissioners.

Mr. Crane divided the claimants into three classes—those deported for cause other than the plot against Lord Roberts, those wrongfully deported, and those accused of complicity in the plot. He objected to the term "act of grace" used by Chairman Milvain, saying it was an act of diplomacy for the preservation of the comity of nations. If in diplomacy an ambassador was told his government's representations were only considered as an "act of grace," it might be dangerous. Less than that had produced war.

Sir John Ardagh, the representative of the foreign office, contended that Dr. Conroy's expedition was composed of men who threw away their Red Cross badges and joined the fighting Boers. Sir John read a letter from Lord Kitchener asserting that the acts of the main claimants justified their arrest, the accusation of complicity in the plot against Lord Roberts and their deportation as undesirable persons.

Reduces the Number of Lots to a Minimum.

Barely Thirty Left to be Disposed of and the Owners of the Land Give a Few Days More Time.

The Lima Machine Works people have been given a few days more of grace on their option on the Faurot land, and if the work of yesterday and last night can be kept up the thirty odd lots which still remain to be sold will soon be disposed of. Since Friday, thirty lots have been sold and four more were added to the list this morning.

A large number of interested people visited the Black block last night, and after the concert rendered by Dana's band, they were shown the plats and had all their doubts about the advisability of the proposition dispelled.

There now remains about 35 lots to sell and if the committees can average 10 each day the project will be carried in ample time to close the option.

In addition to the ten lots sold Saturday, the names of the purchasers being published at that time, the following have been added: Mrs. M. Moffit, Tillie Wise, Nettie Swann, T. H. Spitler, Harley R. Markle, Davis Bros., J. C. Kelly, E. F. Maxwell, B. F. Matthews, John M. Gorham, J. R. Rickoff, John W. Barrick, Wm. McKinney and Andrew Swem.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world famed Dr. Chase's Receipe Book and family physician, and whose fame is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers.

NEW ROCKEFELLER ESTATE

Oil King to Build a Magnificent Castle For His Son.

John D. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil company, having secured in many separate purchases about 2,000 acres of land in Westchester county, is about to begin the erection of a home for the use of his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., says the New York Post. The estimated cost of the house will be $1,000,000. It will be built of granite and marble and modeled, it is said, after a castle in the northern part of England.

Already work is far advanced upon a great stable for the estate to cost when completed about $250,000. This is to house a string of valuable cobs and coach horses that young Mr. Rockefeller is soon to bring back to this country from England. The new Rockefeller house will be set in the midst of the 2,000 acre tract, embracing many of the hills along the Hudson and also overlooking Sleepy Hollow, made famous by Washington Irving. The village of Pocantico Hills lies within this tract, but eventually it will disappear to make way for the improvements Mr. Rockefeller is projecting.

The estate will contain a great game and fish preserve, an artificial lake, waterfalls, gardens and many miles of fine roadway and will form one of the largest estates along the Hudson.

FINE OPENINGS IN FIJI.

Suva Merchant Tells of Chances For Americans.

"Since America is engaged in colonization plans in the Pacific, it might go further south and investigate the opening offered in Fiji," says S. L. Lazarus, who has been a resident 30 years in Suva and is one of its most prominent merchants. Mr. Lazarus is about to proceed to the United States to establish business relations between the colony and America, says a cable dispatch from London to the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Practical American cotton growers and skillful farmers," said Mr. Lazarus, "with the requisite capital, would find splendid openings in Fiji. At present no cotton is grown, though the climate is favorable to such a crop. Two crops of corn are grown each year. There is a ready market in Australia. Exports of tropical fruit are increasing, and the crop is capable of greater development. The greatest need is a native population. The natives are steadily diminishing in numbers, and their total extinction is only a matter of time."

A Fifty Knot Steamer.

Lieutenant Graydon, an English officer, has, it is said, so improved the type of turbine engine that he claims to have produced a machine capable of driving ships at a 50 knot speed across the Atlantic. Associated with him are several engineers and others who should certainly know what they are about, and it is under their supervision and guidance that this marvelous engine is being developed, says The Marine Journal. The Liverpool Journal of Commerce says of it: "The greatest change, however, which this invention will effect, it is maintained, is in submarine navigation. But perhaps too much is promised in this particular line for the good of the invention, for we doubt not the majority of marine engineers will take exception to the apparently extravagant estimates of the work to be accomplished by the machine and the boats into which it is eventually to be introduced." Along with Lieutenant Graydon is Herbert Greig of the Carnegie Steel company. Allen E. Shiner is also working with the patentee in perfecting this revolutionary machine.

BUSINESS IN FAR EAST.

Status of Commercial Rivalry In the Philippines.

NEED OF AN AMERICAN BANK.

Establishment of One Would Relieve One Business Element of Many Difficulties—Attractive Fields For Investment Presented In the Hemp, Copra, Tobacco, Lumber and Coconut Trades.

The question of the hour in the commercial world of Manila today is, "Who shall control Philippine business?" The best of the business of these islands has long been in the hands of Englishmen, and they are now stubbornly contesting every inch of American advance into their preserves, says the Manila correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing under the date of June 28. American business men who have come to Manila with a limited capital to invest in Philippine industrial and commercial enterprises find themselves in a position parallel to that of the independent oil producer of the United States. The giants in the business world here are McLeod & Co., who own the Compania Maritima; Smith, Bell & Co., and Warner, Barnes & Co. To use the popular phrase, these concerns have gobbled up everything in sight. Hemp, sugar, copra, cocoa, transportation, banking, insurance—everything is grist that comes to their mill, and their agents are almost everywhere throughout the archipelago. Their members are heavy stockholders in Manila's chief banks, the Hongkong and Shang-Hai Banking corporation and the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and no American competitor can get even ordinary banking accommodation at these institutions. There is one other bank in Manila, the Banque Espanol Filipino, but it is dominated by the stronger English concerns.

If citizens of the United States are to control Philippine business, their first step will have to be the establishment of their own bank in Manila, and it seems incredible that no American bank has been established in Manila to date, for, with the entire insular government and army as its patrons, its profits would be immediate and magnificent. Ever since American occupation the English banks have received the benefit of millions of dollars of government deposits, and American business men here are justly indignant at the course taken by these banks in withholding ordinary business courtesy from the citizens of a government that is so favoring them.

While the establishment of a bank owned by citizens of the United States would relieve the American business element of many of its present difficulties, the chief drawback to the immediate commercial supremacy of Americans in the Philippines is their ignorance of the field. The Englishman has been here for years. He knows the country, its products and its peoples. Furthermore, by a judicious system of loans to planters he has tied up for himself many of the choicest crops of the islands, and by long commercial supremacy he has won the confidence of the native traders. The Yankee will find a worthy business rival in the far eastern colonial Englishman, and in the Philippines there is a fine promise of "war to the knife" between the two, for there are prizes here that are worth the battle.

The greatest field for development at present is interisland transportation in connection with the hemp, copra, tobacco and lumber trades. Present facilities are very poor and entirely inadequate to handle present business, much less the great increase that is soon to come. This traffic is now monopolized by the English firms mentioned, and in addition to the regular commercial business they get much government freight from Manila to interisland ports.

The copra situation offers a fine example of Philippine business procedure and profits. The Manila merchant pays the cocoanut planter $1 Mexican a tree yearly rental. Each tree bears annually about 125 nuts, and three trees will turn out two piculs of dried copra. The process of converting the cocoanut into copra consists simply in cutting the nut in half and placing it in the sun. When the meat is dried sufficiently it falls out of the shell and is baled into piculs. The current price for a picul of copra in Manila at this date (June 28) is $6. Thus it will be seen that the planter gets $3 for the product of three trees that net the Manila merchant approximately $12. Copra is nearly all shipped to Marseilles, France, and there the oil is extracted and used in the manufacture of fine toilet soaps, etc. To illustrate the crudeness of business conditions in the Philippines, attention is called to the fact that the raw copra in bulk is shipped to Europe, whereas if the oil could be extracted from the nuts there a great saving would be made both in freight and from loss in the evaporation of the oil in the copra state. However, the profits are so large as it is that only live competition will arouse the oriental merchant to the meaning of the words "saving in freight and wastage."

Cocoanut planting presents a most attractive field for investment. Cocoanut trees grow well in many parts of the archipelago and commence to bear after the fifth year. There are about 500 trees to the acre of cocoanut grove, and even at the less than value rental of $1 a tree the ownership of 100 acres of healthy cocoanut trees is a comfortable holding, especially since the trees bear well up to the ninetieth year.

The island of Negros has some of the finest sugar lands in the world, and the people there are the most peaceful in the archipelago. With proper supervision, transportation facilities and labor this island will become a world factor in sugar. The orange industry is also capable of unlimited development in the Philippine Islands. A good native orange grows wild in many of the provinces, and with proper cultivation there is no reason why the Philippines should not raise fine oranges, for the climate is ideal for their culture. Coffee has already been grown with success and profit in Batangas province. The industry was seriously injured a few years ago by a worm that ate the plant, but a graft which the worm will not attack has now been found and the restoration of permanent peace will bring a revival of coffee planting in Batangas and elsewhere.

Tobacco planting and manufacturing must also be reckoned among the highly profitable industries in the Philippines of the future, as it has been for many years in the past.

But perhaps the greatest wealth of the Philippines is in the forests. Captain George P. Ahearn, in charge of the forestry bureau, estimates that there are from 20,000,000 to 40,000,000 acres of virgin forest in the archipelago. He has listed 665 species of native trees, the great majority being valuable hard woods.

There is a great demand in Manila—in fact, all through the orient—for construction timber. This demand will continue, as many important public works are contemplated in the Philippines, many private enterprises will make demands, thousands of houses will be built, and when the present condition of these islands and the vast amount of work to be done are considered it would be difficult to foretell when the present high prices for timber will materially lessen. In view of these facts the opportunity for modern sawmills and woodworking machinery in the Philippines is very obvious.

Manila is a city of 250,000 persons, with practically no street car service. An electric street car line and lighting plant, an American department store handling American goods and a good hotel are the city's most crying needs at present, and all these enterprises would pay enormous profits. Nor, contrary to the prevailing impression, is there any hindrance to the formation of stock companies to do business in the Philippines. Following is an extract from an opinion on this subject by the leading attorneys at Manila, which opinion has already been sustained there:

"We are of the opinion that a corporation duly organized in any of the United States in accordance with the laws of such state can engage here in the business authorized in its articles (such articles should provide for the operation of the corporation in the Philippines) and that such corporation would have the undoubted right to acquire and hold property of all description, including real estate, in the Philippine Islands."

On the whole, everything points to unprecedented business activity in the Philippines during the next two or three years, and it is safe to predict that the foundation for some great fortunes will be laid here within that time. Shall they be American or English?

TRAVELERS IN CHINA.

Government Takes Steps to Protect Foreign Tourists.

The state department at Washington has received through Mr. Squiers, secretary of the legation at Peking, a note from Li Hung Chang describing the regulations for the control of the mounted patrol which it is proposed to establish along the road between Ching-Ting and Pao-Ting-Fu. Mr. Squiers says this is the first step on the part of the Chinese authorities toward the protection of foreigners traveling through the disturbed districts of the provinces of Shansi and Chi-li.

The regulations are quaintly expressed, but in substance they provide for the establishment of military posts at nine stations on the roads, the commanders of which are to furnish escorts for travelers. The escort is to keep within 12 feet of the travelers, whose pace must set theirs. It is to disperse people who gather about the traveler and are boisterous, and its members are not to accept any pay from a traveler under pain of dismissal. A post will be forwarded every two days.

The Potato Famine.

In the home there's lamentation
O'er the fearful elevation
In the price of tubers that so long were low;
For each day they're scarcer getting,
And the purchasers are fretting
At the inroads being made upon their "dough."

Though some months ago a dollar
Would a barrel of them collar,
We are now compelled to cough up five or six,
And unless relief is hearing
Us at rapid gait we're fearing
We shall soon be in a bad financial fix.

In the hasheries there's growling,
And proprietors are scowling
When the hungry patrons for potatoes call,
For with taters so expensive
There's a feeling apprehensive
That one dish of them knocks profits out of all.

And as long has been the practice
When the prices high distract us
And especially when cost of food we feel,
'Tis the viand that is dearest
On which there is run severest,
So now tubers are desired at every meal.

If prices keep on rising,
'Twill not be the least surprising
If potato dealers give us further shocks,
For instead of bushels selling
Customers they may be telling
That the biggest measure is a berry box.

Where 'twill end just baffles guessing
And 'tis really distressing
When we think of taters going up so high;
Wealthy loemen we're forgetting,
And sincerely we're regretting
We're not those from whom potatoes we now buy.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Columbia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady, sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dyspepsia. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

ONCE

More the Record is Broken.

Smashing Pace

Set By Engineer Glenn of the Pittsburg

Who Came From Bucyrus to Lima, Fifty-Eight Miles in Fifty-Two Minutes.

Some Decided Improvements are Being Made in the Running of Passenger Trains on the Ft. Wayne Branch.

Once more the record for fast running on the Pennsylvania has been broken, engineer William Glenn Sunday making a new one for Division C. of the Pittsburg, and one which is not likely to be broken for many months. His train was an extra, consisting of three loaded express cars and one coach, and it was in charge of Conductor Kikley. It left Crestline at 2:02 o'clock p. m. and pulled up at the depot in Fort Wayne at 5:18 p. m. The distance traveled was 131 miles and the time consumed in the run, including stops and delays, was exactly 136 minutes. There was a stop of six minutes at Lima to take on and off passengers and to take water, and a stop of three minutes at Van Wert to let off passengers, making a total detention of nine minutes, which deduction from the time consumed by the trip makes the actual running time 126 minutes. The best portion of the run was between K N tower, near Bucyrus, to Lima, a distance of fifty-eight miles, which was covered in fifty-two minutes. From Lima to Fort Wayne, fifty-nine miles, the run was made in fifty-nine minutes, including a stop at Van Wert. The train was hauled by class X engine, No. 287, and fireman R. P. Ormiston handled the scoop and pick, and to him is due a good measure of the credit for the fast run.

Trains Run on Time Now.

After stating that one of the conductors on the Lake Erie and Western road was laid off for losing time at Hartford City a few days ago, the Bluffton, Ind., News proceeds to score the management of that line in the following manner: "The management is honestly trying to run on its schedule. For three months every train has been late from twenty minutes to two hours, and only the other night when the 9:50 train came in on time nearly half the passengers were left, so unexpected was it. Hereafter there will be no stops to let passengers off at crossroads. The manager says that he expects to run the Fort Wayne branch on time of he lays off every man on the line and his efforts will be appreciated. It's bad enough to have to ride on the route, to even think loafing around the kind of a depot the company furnishes a good town like Bluffton."

POLICE

Doubt the Story Told by Coyne.

Believe He was Murdered by One of His Pals.

Four Tramps Arrested On Night of Stabbing are Held. Remains of Coyne to be Given a Christian Burial.

The police are not of the opinion that James Coyne, the murdered tramp who died from the effects of a knife wound, at the city hospital yesterday morning, was killed by an unknown colored man as was declared by Coyne in his ante-mortem statement. They believe that he was killed by a white man and that the murderer was one of the pals and possibly one of the quartette of tramps now in custody. These four men were the persons who informed the police of the stabbing shortly after it occurred but they and the wounded man claimed they did not know each other and had not been together prior to the affray but south side citizens have informed the police that they saw Coyne and some of the other men togther on the evening before the trouble in the box car occurred.

The four men are being held while persons are being hunted for to identify them as the men who were with Coyne and if they are identified, an effort will be made to "sweat" the truth from them. In the meantime the body of the murdered man will be held at Bennett's morgue and the coroner's inquest will be deferred.

During the time that Coyne was a patient in the city hospital it was learned that he was a catholic and Rev. A. E. Manning has informed undertaker Bennett that when the body is released by the police the church will give it a Christian burial.

Forces Clash

At the Meeting of the School Board

When the Question of Changing Text Books was Introduced.

Mr. Prophet Spoke Freely When Addressing His Remarks to Mr. Sprague. The Session a Warm One.

In addition to all of the members of the board of education except Mr. Fredericks, there were a dozen or more visitors from out of town at the meeting of the board of education last night, and they were treated to a tilt between factions that even approached violence. Mr. Prophet, as chairman of the text book committee submitted a report which did not strike certain members, especially Dr. Bates and President Sprague, favorably and it was in reply to the latter's objections to the use of Harper's reader for the next five years that brought from Mr. Prophet a heated attack.

Dr. Bates was the first to offer an objection and after the report had been submitted, he referred to the Harper reader as perhaps not quite as old as Noah, but almost as antiquated, and finally closed his remarks with a motion to adopt the Cyr reader, published by Ginn & Co. His motion was seconded but Mr. Prophet interposed a few remarks in which he hinted at a knowledge of the fact that certain members had agreed to turn down the report of the committee, and had availed themselves of the opportunity to investigate certain books which had not even been submitted to the committee for investigation. He considered the purpose of those who were taking matters out of the hands of the committee as lacking in courtesy to say the least, and he gave the board to understand also that Supt. Miller had carefully examined the report and gave it his approval, especially stating that he did not desire a change of readers.

Mr. Sprague called Mr. Klatte to the chair and at some length stated his attitude in regard to the proposed change, favoring the introduction of the Cyr reader because it had kept pace with the general advance made along all lines of education. He had also some objections to other books proposed in the list, but was not prepared to suggest at this time what he considered the best substitute. It was his opinion that the text book committee had had ample time to thoroughly examine the Cyr reader, and if they had failed to do so, then it was his opinion that the members of the committee had not done their duty and the other members of the board should not be blamed for doing it for them. Mr. Sprague said he had taken particular notice that one book company was receiving the kindest consideration from the text book committee, while another was not, and the present report was not the first evidence of that fact.

It was certain now that Mr. Prophet would make a reply to Mr. Sprague, and his method of doing so was somewhat startling. He began by saying that he was one man that didn't think he knew it all, and he was one member of the board who did not hold the opinion that he was the whole push. "But," he declared, "the gentleman who has just spoken, holds that opinion of himself and the members of the board all know it." Mr. Sprague arose to a point of order and appealed to the chair to have Mr. Prophet cease his personalities and confine himself to the question under discussion. Mr. Klatte, however, stated that he couldn't interfere. In Mr. Prophet's remarks he rebuked Mr. Sprague for suggesting the idea of corruption because one book company was receiving the largest share of patronage. When Mr. Sprague again offered a protest Mr. Prophet pushed several stray chairs out of his way and told the president several times that he had better take his seat. The storm did not burst however, and Mr. Donahue finally brought the board down to the real issue by objecting to an all night session, and truthfully declared that with all of the discussion nothing had been accomplished.

Mr. Sprague resumed the chair put the motion of Dr. Bates on the question of adopting the Cyr reader. The vote stood as follows: Yeas—Bates, Cramer, Fenwick, McClain, Sprague, Spyker, Miss Disman and Mrs. Vicary. Nays—Catt, Donahue, Meatheny, Prophet, and Klatte. Mr. Sprague declared the Cyr reader adopted.

Mr. Sprague's suggestion that a motion to refer the remainder of the report back would be in order led to a motion to that enect, with the additional instruction to make a new recommendation. The motion carried, but Mr. Prophet facetiously remarked that you might lead a horse to water but you couldn't make him drink.

There was considerable routine work transacted by the board which lacked anything like concerted opposition. The first to receive attention were the communications. Under that head A. W. Jameson and A. L. Wolf made application for position as janitors. Two resignations were received and accepted, relieving Miss Alice Brass, of the High school and Miss Madora Freeman, who has been appointed librarian. Miss Alice Orbison, of Sidney, applied for a position as teacher in the High school. A communication from Peck, Williamson & Co., calling attention to the bids furnishing the heating and ventilating apparatus for the south Elizabeth and west Spring street buildings, and claiming that by a careful comparison of the material furnished and the figures their bid was the lowest, was read.

The Peck Williamson & Co.'s communication was laid on the table and the report of the building and repair and sanitary committees recommending the bid of the American Foundry and Furnace Company was adopted. The cost was figured as follows: South Elizabeth street—Sanitary, $1,022; furnaces, $570. West Spring street—Sanitary, $115; furnace, $270.

Mrs. Vicary, chairman of the teachers and salaries committee, submitted a written report. The committee recommended the appointment of Miss Edith Morris, of Greencastle, Ind., as teacher in the High school at a salary of $80 per month, and asked that the board adopt a rule increasing the salary of High school teachers $10 each year until a maximum salary of $80 per month was reached. The report also included the appointment of the following corps of janitors: Jacob Conrad, Wm. Kendall, Abraham Ramseyer, W. C. Black, J. Garretson, Jerry Finn, Mr. Bupp, H. C. Higgins, Howard Dunbar, Mrs. Hibner, Mrs. Connor, Mrs. Wolf and Mrs. Burns. The committee recommended the transfer of Mr. Higgins to the High school building, Mr. Dunbar to be made janitor at the Garfield building and Mr. Black to be second janitor at the same building. Mr. Dunbar objected to changing Mr. Higgins and a separation of the report was asked for, leaving out the question of increased salary and the transfer of Mr. Higgins. A rate on the latter sustained the recommendation of the committee the members being divided as follows: Yeas—Bates, Catt, Cramer, Fenwick, McClain, Sprague, Spyker, Mrs. Disman and Mrs. Vicary. Nays—Donahue, Klatte, Metheany and Prophet.

The question of salary increase was defeated, but it really has no significance at this time as the increase was not intended to go into effect for another week, and Mr. Prophet thought the matter should be left for the new board to decide. The main body of the report was then voted on and adopted without dissent. Mrs. Vicary's motion that the schools open the first Tuesday in September carried, and upon motion of Mr. Phophet, the board adjourned to meet again next Monday evening for the purpose of deciding upon the text books to be used during the next five years. A law of the board has selected that date for that especial purpose.

THE IDLER.

A Good Program.

The program at McBeth's this week is one of the best of the season, and the attendance Sunday night was also one of the largest since the park opened. The Wilson trio, in the Comedy Dutch and Harmony act, with vocal selections and fun galore won well-earned applause and the team promises to be prime favorites. The return engagement of Sidonia was also an attraction, but, incidentally, Sidonia should have a few new jokes up his sleeve.
